Called the "magnificent obsession" by the New York Times, the Northern Forest Canoe Trail traverses the roof of the Adirondacks and the Northern Forest following traditional Native American travel routes across 740-miles of inland water from New York through Vermont, Québec, New Hampshire, and Maine. Kate Williams, NFCT Executive Director, will guide us on a virtual journey along this diverse and enchanting route. She will show slides of special places along the trail and share her favorite ideas for day-tripping and week-long adventures as well as thru-paddling the entire route. The first NFCT through-paddlers, Mainers Donnie Mullen and Gil Whitney, will tell interesting stories, contribute useful perspectives, and share advice. Bring your questions.

A potluck dinner will begin at 6 pm; the presentation at 7 pm. Bring a potluck item and dinnerware (plate, utensils etc.). Drinks will be available. Details on the web at amcmaine.org or by email to education@amcmaine.org
